

APRIL 6-9, 2011
FREDERICKSBURG, VA

Where can you be a part of a display of 600+ armored vehicle models in 13 different categories? The 2011 AMPS International Convention. This year's theme is "Marine Armor." Any country. Any time period. Any armored vehicle used by sea-based armed forces around the globe. Your model could win the "AMPS 2011 Convention Theme" award. In addition, this year you can attend an extra day of events and enjoy the amenities of having the convention in a full-service hotel. Reserve a room now at The Fredericksburg Hospitality House. www.fredericksburghospitalityhouse.com

TWO DAYS OF TANK TOURS

It starts on Wednesday, April 6 with a self-guided tour of the National Museum of the Marine Corps at Quantico. You'll see some of the finest life-size dioramas with real vehicles and equipment. A guided tour of the museum's storage & restoration facilities will follow.

Visit the museum online at www.usmcmuseum.org

On Thursday, April 7, a bus tour will take you to the Virginia Museum of Military Vehicles. This collection of tanks and wheeled vehicles from all eras and many armies has been painstakingly restored to running condition. The Centurion, Valentine, Hetzer, PT-76, T-34, T-72, M24, M18, LVT-4 are just a fraction of the collection.

SEMINARS & DEMOS

From historical reference and technical details, to photography and super-detailing, AMPS conventions always feature informative seminars from noted authors and modelers. Seminars are free with your conference registration.

Visit www.AMPS-Armor.org to see all the topics and presenters.

THE FAMOUS "VENDORS' ROOM"

Be sure to bring plenty of spending cash. AMPS International Conventions are known for attracting vendors from near and far with everything from kits and aftermarket details to paints, tools, airbrushes, books and more--many at bargain "show prices." We're sure you'll find what you want among the 100 vendor tables.
